

The four levels, and the gap each study measures

A claim is supported only by what the estimate, and behind it the observation, can bear.